TO INSTRUCT OFFICERS.

War Department Plans Preliminary Encampments for National Guard,

The war department will ask the adjutant generals of the state if they favor preliminary camps of instruction for the commissioned personel of the organized militia. This is a new idea, which has been adopted in Arkansas upon the request of the national guard authorities. An army office, who is qualified to act as instructor has been selected to impart information in the selected to impart information in the form of lectures and demonstrations to the Arkansas national guard officers who will go into an instruction camp at Fort Logan H. Root for ten days in June. This is before the state encampment and precedes the field manoeuvers, to which the Arkansas militia is invited in connection with the regular army. The military authorities in Washington who have to do with the development and encouragement of the militia believe that this system of instruction will be of decided advantage and that it may very profitably be extended to all of the states. In this way the officers of the national guard will obtain at first hand valuable instruction with the privilege of seeking information from competent sources upon these subjects concerning which they entertain doubts.

CRITICS SET AT NAUGHT.

Elder William H. King as Speaker at Tabernacle Yesterday Answers Those Who Assail Mormons.

always, in its aims, purposes and consummation, and that criticisms offered to the countrary are without foundation in fact, was contended by Elder Wiliam H. King at the tabernacle yesterday afternoon. The speaker asserted in no uncertain tone that materialism, including so-called commercialism, en-tered into the Church only that man's temporal welfare might not suffer while the soul was undergoing the develop-the soul was undergoing the develop-ment designed of heaven.

Elder King was preceded by Elder Albert R. Lyman, of San Juan stake, who discoursed on the benefits to be derived from having a personal testi-mony of the divinity of the Savior and the oneness of the gospel that He de-livered to mankind There was a large congregation in attendance, and both speakers were listened to with rapt at-tention.

ELDER ALBERT R. LYMAN.

Elder Lyman said that obedience is one of the first requisites of salvation. The speaker had early been taught that Joseph Smith was a prophet sent of God, and had also been taught not to depend upon the testimony of any one else, but to seek a knowledge from God as to the truth of the gospel. Mortality is but the second estate of man's existence. Conditions are met with here as to the truth of the gospel. Mortanty is but the second estate of man's existence. Conditions are met with here that will determine the status of the hereafter. Eternal life is predicated upon obedience to law. Even planets are kept in their proper place by this principle. The providences of God are sometimes difficult to understand, as for instance the death of children and others just beginning upon useful careers. We shall yet learn that God does all things well and for the eternal benefit of His children.

Truth is immutable, and unchangeable. A principle cannot be true at one time and false at another. The laws of eternal life must be obeyed by all who would inherit eternal life. There is no bigotry or inconsistency in the declarations of the Latter-day Saints that they have the gospel of the Son of God. Good men and women are found everywhere, but there is only one plan of salvation.

ELDER WILLIAM H. KING.

ELDER WILLIAM H. KING.

Elder King said in part. Despite the knowledge in the world today, scienti-fic and otherwise, it is almost starti-knowledge in the world today, scientific and otherwise, it is almost startling to have a man stand up and affirm that he has a living faith and testimony of a certain religion. Unbelief and uncertainty prevail to a great extent in the world, and it is a good thing to have a living testimony of the divinity of Jesus Christ. Latter-day Saints are called egotistical because they make such a claim.

A local critic of the Mormon creed and Mormon people expressed the opinion that the Latter-day Saints are lacking in spiritualuality. The belief is prevalent that this people are nothing so much as a commercial co-operative system, seeking the temporal welfare of man to the deteriment of his spiritual well being.

RELIGION COMES FIRST

RELIGION COMES FIRST

Mormonism is alone and above all a strictly religious system. It teaches the power and love of God and the divinity of His Son Jesus Christ, and has for its object the bringing into harmony of all the people of the earth, that the will of God may be done on earth as in Heaven. No peodone on earth as in Heaven. No ple, not actuated by religious victions, can or would endure the Latter-day Saints have. They the Latter-day Saints have. They have demonstrated in their lives that they are possessed of the supreme courage and endurance born only of true religion. Mormonism is founded on all that is best in man, not deffying the man's body to the exclusion of his soul, but claiming that both are precious in the sight of God and will be eternal-ty reunited in the resurrection.

the sight of God and will be eternalty reunited in the resurrection.
What is there in Mormonism that subjects it to such adverse criticism?
Its objects are to bring men back into the presence of God, not merely to work for temporal blessings. Mortal man is but a transitory being, sent from another world to prepare him for an existence hereafter. There is no truth in the assertion that Mormonism is more financial and commercial than spiritual. There is too little religion in the world today. In churches and in colleges efforts are being made to degrade Jesus Christ to the level of a man, to prove that He was not the Son of God. There is a disposition to make religion a mere lecposition to make religion a mere lecture buerau. Mormonism stands foremost in the churches today, declaring the divinity and majesty of Jesus Christ the Son of the living God.

NO WAR TO WAGE.

The Mormon people have no war to make against any sect, creed, or in-dividual. Peace among all mankind is all they desire, and they will work with all well meaning people for such There is too much of a tendency to day to materialize and formalize al

There is too much of a tendency today to materialize and formalize all things pertaining to God and religion.
God is a perfect God, and His children may become perfect and like Him through a perfect religion, a perfect gospel. Great spiritual truths to lift man from material things are needed.
The Mormon people accept Jesus Christ as the perfect exponent of life, as the Author of a perfect faith. What is there in the Mormon belief that is antagonistic to the highest ideals in moral and religious ethics? The Mormon people want the truth, wherever it may be found. They are seeking for salvation and the elevation of their own souls. They want to fraternize with all good men and all good women for the welfare of the human family, moral impulse and religious development are necessary to prevent the retrogression of the world. Greatness is a product of the mind, the possession of truth, and not a possession of worldly wealth. Should Mormonism become materialistic rather than spiritual, its disinteerration would speedily follow.

wealth. Should Mormonism become materialistic rather than spiritual, its disintegration would speedly follow. The truths of Mormonism have not been developed by the brains of man, but are the results of the revelations of Jesus Christ. The gospel of the Son of God has been again restored to earth, and by it God designs to bring eternal felicity to all His children. The services were presided over by eternal felicity to all His children.

The services were presided over by President John R. Winder, and Elder Albert R. Lyman was introduced to the congregation by his uncle, President Prancis M. Lyman, as being the son of the late President Platt D. Lyman, of the San Juan stake. The choir conducted by Assistant Director Horace S. Ensign, rendered the following hymns, "Praise ye the Lord," "Tho deep'ning trials throng your way," and "We're not ashamel to own our Lord." Elder John M. Knight and President Francis M. Lyman offered the opening and closing prayers.

ROBBERS MAKE GOOD HAUL

Robbers entered the residence oc supled by J. H. Owens and H. C. Matthews, 721 south Main street, Satarday night, and when they left, urday night, and when they left, they took with them a large quantity of valuable jewelry. Mr. and Mrs. Owens and Mr, and Mrs. Matthews were at the theater. Upon their return they found the place had been thoroughly ransacked. Drawers were pulled out and the contents scattered over the rooms. Every article of value the robbers could find they stole. Diamond rings, pins and watches to the value of probably $400 were taken. Detective Chase and other officers made an investigation, and are at work on the case.
